Stages description

Day 1: Individual arrival to the Lahnquelle

Your bike tour on the Lahn begins not far from the Lahntop in the Rothaargebirge, just under 600 meters above sea level. After arriving at the hotel, grab your bike and explore the wooded surroundings before heading to Marburg the next day.

Day 2: Lahnquelle – Marburg, approx. 65 km

Via Bad Laasphe on the Rothaarsteig and the half-timbered town of Biedenkopf, your first stage takes you to the lively university town of Marburg. Crisscross the narrow streets of the old town up to the landgrave's castle. If the climb seems too arduous, use one of the Oberstadt elevators or the Marburg Castle Train, which will take you comfortably past all the city's sights.

Day 3: Marburg – Braunfels, approx. 60 / 70 km

Today you will cycle along the meadows of the Lahn through the time-honored cities of Gießen and Wetzlar. Giessen, known for the oldest botanical garden in Germany, and Wetzlar, whose unfinished cathedral reflects several centuries of architectural history. Before reaching your stage destination of Braunfels, make a detour to the Fortuna mine near Solms. In the visitor mine, learn interesting facts about iron ore mining in the region along the Lahn River, which was characterized until the 20th century.

Day 4: Braunfels – Limburg, approx. 60 km

After taking a last look at the fairy-tale Braunfels Castle today, you will continue on the Lahn Valley Cycle Path to the residential town of Weilburg. Take a breather while visiting the baroque castle complex, the largest in Hesse. In Runkel, you have the choice of climbing to the castles of Runkel and Schadeck. The former can still be visited from the inside today. Having arrived at your stage destination Limburg, visit the world-famous cathedral or take a pedal boat trip on the Lahn. For refreshment, we recommend the traditional Limburg dish Limburger Sacker.

Day 5: Limburg – Koblenz, approx. 60 km

Following the loops and meanders of the Lahn, you will cycle today through the famous spa town of Bad Ems with its numerous thermal springs. Before you reach your destination Koblenz, take a look at the confluence of the Lahn and Rhine rivers in Lahnstein. Ideally from the Lahneck Castle. In Koblenz, the Deutsches Eck awaits you. Below the Kaiser Wilhelm Monument, at the confluence of the Moselle and Rhine, there is a magnificent view of the city and Ehrenbreitstein Fortress.

Day 6: Individual departure

After breakfast you start your individual return journey home or extend your stay.
